News & Events from the Village of McCullom Lake

To mccullomlake@comcast.net

September & October

Autumn is the slow decline of the year toward the winter, a slow lingering death from the height of summer into the cold & dark. Yet autumn is far from miserable. I love the unexpected warm days. I love the colors of the season & the wind & rain feels quite energetic & powerful. It has always felt like a season of portents & omens, birds are flocking, deer are rutting, autumnal color is everywhere.
